IN 30 SECONDS

Josh Seiden and Harrison Chad help teams create real connection—the kind that drives engagement, trust, and performance.

They come from two worlds that demand it. Harrison is a Broadway veteran and the original voice of Boots the Monkey on Nickelodeon. Josh is a magician, behavioral strategist, and entrepreneur who produced for The Carbonaro Effect, a show built on human connection through hidden camera magic.

With 25,000+ hours of combined performance experience and deep expertise in the psychology of engagement, they've developed a proven framework that blends entertainment, science, and practical tools.

The result? They don't just talk about connection—they create it in real time, giving teams a clear path to communicate better, collaborate stronger, and perform at a higher level.
